

Santa's Toy Run @ RA

Posted by AgRacer - 03 Nov 2013 13:14

Since I just moved to NC, and haven't been on track since May, I am looking forward to finally getting back on track.

Who all is planning on attending the last SE event of the year? I'm looking forward to racing at RA since I've only ever done DEs there.

I do need to fix my radiator and my clutch before then.

=====

Re: Santa's Toy Run @ RA

Posted by JUSTMERACING - 07 Nov 2013 11:23

Michaelreich wrote:

Is there a comp school that weekend? I have gotten my car back together, but I got stuck in the middle early this year by completing two SCCA driver's schools but never completing my two regional races.

I don't see one on the list. Bummer. How's the car running?

=====

Re: Santa's Toy Run @ RA

Posted by Michaelreich - 07 Nov 2013 11:51

It is a long story that I will share over a favorite beverage, but I have finally gotten it back together and it now sports a short 5th gear and is fully Spec944 legal, with the exception of a little ballast and the purchase of the competitor's tires (just can't bring myself to do it). I am looking forward to getting back out there. Maybe I can do DE3 or something.

=====

Re: Santa's Toy Run @ RA

Posted by JUSTMERACING - 07 Nov 2013 12:38

We have a few guys running DE's that weekend and you are always welcome to paddock with the gang.

Hope to see you there.

P.S. - If for security reasons you need me to buy the "GASP" Toyos for you I would be glad to help.

=====

Re: Santa's Toy Run @ RA

Posted by Brian Evans - 07 Nov 2013 14:01

michaelreich wrote:

Is there a comp school that weekend? I have gotten my car back together, but I got stuck in the middle early this year by completing two SCCA driver's schools but never completing my two regional races.

NASA Midsouth has a comp school in Memphis this weekend if you can swing it. If you think you can make it let Shawn know, they are very accomodating there, particulary to 944-Spec racers- they run 4 races a weekend, one a 944-Spec only race.

It is a decent tow for me from Atlanta but worth it.

Shawn's email:

This e-mail address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it

=====

Re: Santa's Toy Run @ RA

Posted by JUSTMERACING - 07 Nov 2013 14:24

Brian Evans wrote:

michaelreich wrote:

Is there a comp school that weekend? I have gotten my car back together, but I got stuck in the middle early this year by completing two SCCA driver's schools but never completing my two regional races.

NASA Midsouth has a comp school in Memphis this weekend if you can swing it. If you think you can make it let Shawn know, they are very accomodating there, particulary to 944-Spec racers- they run 4 races a weekend, one a 944-Spec only race.

It is a decent tow for me from Atlanta but worth it.

Shawn's email:

This e-mail address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it

Brian,

Do we have any Toyos Michael could borrow if neccesary?

=====